Swiftech Releases New Apogee XL2 Flagship Waterblock

Long Beach, CA, October 13, 2016 – Rouchon Industries Inc., dba Swiftech® (OTC Pink Current: RCHN), today announced the release of their new Apogee™ XL2 flagship waterblock.

The XL2 follows in the footsteps of the award winning high performance Apogee XL with fine-tuned flow rate, an improved retention mechanism, and modder-friendly features such as: all clear acrylic housing construction, addressable RGB LED's lighting technology which allows users to change the block color at the touch of a button, and removable front plate for after-market customizations.

The Apogee XL2 includes Swiftech's new IRIS-ECO Multi-Function ALED light controller and PWM signal splitter hub, which is being released concurrently. The waterblock is compatible with all the current Intel® and AMD® desktop processors, and ships with installation hardware for both.
